Chapter 1 by -

You are a coal miner. There are 50 workers inside the tunnel when a 15 second bomb has accidentally been lit by the entrance... What do you do?

Chapter 2 by -

Well, it would be tough, but I would yell for people to get out of there and then jump on the bomb. Better for one person to die and the 50 workers to not be as badly hurt. Another reason would be because I am a Believer and know that I would be entering a better place, whereas if fifty men were to die, I could not live knowing that they may have died not right with the Almighty.

You are in a church service and thirty men with guns storm in. One by one they pass around a Bible and ask the people to spit on it... When they come to you, what do you do?

Chapter 3 by -

Spit on the man's boots and probably end up getting shot.

You are in a store when you see two women stuffing their huge purses with what ever will fit...
You see they have guns under the

Chapter 4 by -

Tell the cashiers to call the police and then sneak behind the thieves. Jump on one of them, grabbing the gun from in their jacket. While holding one in a choke hold position, aim the gun at the other one. It sounds cool, but I would probably do it all wrong and get shot first...

You are strolling through a park and someone comes by and tries to grab your briefcase. It has important documents in it for the company you work for. There is no one (so far as you can see) around. What do you do?

Chapter 5 by -

Pull out my concealed gun, shout loud just in case someone is within hearing range, and shoot the man if he tries anything violent.

You are with your family at a zoo. As you pass the wild cat pen, you notice that the gate is unlatched and the animals are seconds away from leaping out... What do you do?

Chapter 6 by -

Well, I should play, dead because the wild animals would be so preoccupied in escaping, I don't they would pay any attention to me... But realistically, I would probably run, or try to climb up on the enclosure.

You are on the Millennium Falcon when you noticed poisonous gas coming through the vents. Half of the crew on board are already suffering the consequences. What do you do?

Chapter 7 by -

I would run through the ship, yelling for people to head into the rooms where I had turned off the air vents. Also I would tell the pilot to head to the closest planet... Hopefully, at least some of my crew members would survive to tell of my grand leadership skills.

You are Captain of the Starship Enterprise. Klingons have surrounded your ship, and somehow begun transporting on board the Enterprise. What do you do?

Chapter 8 by -

Phaser them like heck! I don't know. I feel bad.

well, I would give another scenario, but this is the last chapter, instead I will just say this to everyone.
